BOURGOGNE PINOT NOIR

Once criticised as a minefield of atrocious wines dotted with the sublime, Burgundy is now a fairly safe bet for some of the most outstanding Pinot Noir in existence. The really top stuff costs a bomb (see the "serious bottles" section) but there are some exceedingly good wines – particularly from the 2005 vintage – that express the different nuances of their commune.

RHÔNE SHIRAZ: GRENACHE: CINSULT: MOURVÈDRE

The northern-Rhone vineyards (Côte Rotie, St Joseph, Cornas, Hermitage & Crozes Hermitage) are Shiraz (Syrah) country, while the south (Côtes du Rhône & Châteauneuf) are a mix of grapes...predominantly Grenache. The great Syrah-based wines come from Hermitage (the hill after which Grange was originally named) and Côte Rotie.
